

Studies in the Short Story, Spring 2022
Dr. Phillip Lobo
Email: plobo@bsu.edu

Office location: EL-B008D
Office hours: MWF 12-1:00pm, 4-5:30pm; R 11:30am-2:00pm

REQUIRED TEXTS

- Labyrinths, Jorge Luis Borges.
- The Bloody Chamber, Angela Carter.
- At the Bottom of the River, Jamaica Kincaid.
- The Interpreter of Maladies, Jhumpa Lahiri.
- Points of View, ed. James Moffet.
- Hateship, Friendship, Courtship, Loveship, Marriage, Alice Munro.
- The Elephant Vanishes, Haruki Murakami.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

The short story combines the old and the new like few other fictional forms. It echoes the folktale in its brevity and power, while also being the medium in which much modern formal experimentation takes place. By surveying a variety of works written by authors from different backgrounds and with different styles, we will survey a wide range of the form, discerning what unifies and distinguishes each work, coming to a better understanding of this versatile literary mode.

This course will focus on the modern short story and how it serves as a space of inquiry about our consciousnesses and identities, our societies and beliefs, and our understanding of what narrative art does when refined into one of its purest forms. A major focus of this course is critical reading: the ability not only to understand what the text says, but also to interpret what the text does on a deeper level. To do so we will examine how the text is operating as an object of experience and art as well as determining what it has to tell us about ourselves and our world. Your insights and interpretations will be the building blocks of our class sessions; it will be a forum for exploring. You will be expected to articulate your perspective on the texts and engage with other perspectives in a respectful and productive manner. In addition, we will develop analytical writing skills, preparing you for complex intellectual tasks useful both in academic and professional settings.

Central to the course will be your cohort, a group of fellow students in your class with whom you will work throughout the semester. Together you will discuss the texts, develop interpretations, and select class readings. Make sure you communicate with, provide support to, and are supported by your cohort-mates.

COURSE GOALS

- Develop critical thinking and critical reading skills
- Understand cultural texts in their historical context, and to engage in comparative consideration
- See our readings in conversation with one another
- Understand literary devices and techniques, and identify how writers use them
- Analyze literary texts both orally and in writing
- Develop strategies for effective academic discourse

Texts by Week

Week 1/3 Points of View (various authors)

Week 1/10 Selected Stories (William Faulkner)

Week 1/17 Hateship, Friendship, Courtship, Loveship, Marriage (Alice Munro)

Week 1/24 At the Bottom of the River (Jamaica Kincaid)

Week 1/31 Labyrinths (Jorge Luis Borges)

Week 2/7 The Bloody Chamber (Angela Carter)

Week 2/14 The Elephant Vanishes (Haruki Murakami)

Week 2/21 The Interpreter of Maladies (Jhumpa Lahiri)

Week 2/28 Project Week

***Project due 3/7 before 11:59 pm*******

ASSIGNMENTS/GRADING

In-Class Participation - 25%

Reflections, Questions and Contributions - 40%

Interpretive Project - 35%

Grading: A 95-100, A- 90-94, B+ starts at 87, B 83, B- 80, C+ 77, C 73, C- 70, D* 69 and below

In-Class Participation (25%): Your participation in each class session will be vital for the overall experience. Come to every class on time, prepared with your reading notes and your book, and be ready to contribute to our discussion. You will be expected to play an active role in each session, sharing your ideas, building on those of other students, and asking questions that contribute to our discussion. Participation is mostly based on you verbally engaging in class discussion. Behaviors that damage your participation grade include lateness, disruptiveness, absences, not bringing your texts to class, and not regularly participating in class discussion or other class activities.

Reflections and Contributions (40%): The groundwork for class discussion is laid through sharing reflections about the assigned reading within your cohort. You will reflect on the reading by presenting or responding to a well-framed question or interpretation on your online cohort discussion board; you should focus on a specific aspect of the text, using direct textual reference. Your cohort will also collectively contribute a thematic thread to the ongoing class discussion, as well as taking turns choosing the next week's reading. Engaging with the texts, working with your cohort, and contributing to the class will secure this part of your grade.

Interpretive Project (35%): A week at the end of the quarter will be set aside for you to work on your final projects. These can be anything from an analytical paper to a video essay to a creative work in whatever medium, as long as it engages with one or more of the texts we read during the quarter; the key is that they be interpretive, either enriching our understanding or transforming the text. They will be graded on a simple scale of A (100), B (85), C (70) with an adapted rubric, focusing on effort and sophistication evident in the product.

Where applicable, projects will need to use MLA citation to cite the literary works both in-text and in a Works Cited page. We will go over this in class, but if you have questions please ask me or visit the OWL Purdue website. Most importantly, make sure the words and ideas in your paper are your own.

COURSE POLICIES

ATTENDANCE: Regular and punctual class attendance is expected and required of all students. If you are not in class when it officially begins, you will be marked tardy. If you show up to class ten or more minutes late, you will be marked absent for the day. You will also be marked absent if I see you sleeping.

LATE WORK: Late assignments will not be accepted without an in-person discussion and a clear plan for timely submission. I will collect your reading assignments in class and major papers will be turned in electronically, unless otherwise stated; if I do not have your assignment when it is due, and we do not discuss a plan for, you risk receiving no credit for it. Please make every effort to make sure assignments are timely, and that you meet the deadlines as outlined in the syllabus. If you must miss a class, plan ahead to get your work in before the deadline. In the rare case of an excused absence (those deemed so by the school), you will need to contact me via email to make arrangements to get your missed work in.

TECHNOLOGY: Please render your cell phones silent before you enter class, put them out of sight, and refrain from using them in class. Keep other electronic devices, such as laptops and iPads, in your bag and off your desk. Exceptions can be made upon request.

INDIANA ACADEMY UNEXCUSED ABSENCE POLICY

It is the policy of the Indiana Academy that any absence from class is unexcused, except for illness, death in the family, college or school-related activities, and extenuating circumstances. When a student is absent from a class, the instructor reports the student absence to the Faculty Attendance Coordinator in the Office of Academic Affairs. Unless the absence is excused by a school official, it is considered unexcused. The decision as to whether an absence is excused is not determined by the instructor.

*You are expected to attend every class. You are allowed one unexcused absence without penalty. Each additional unexcused absence will be penalized as follows: Unexcused absence (1) = 1-point subtraction from final grade. Unexcused absence (2) = 3-point subtraction from final grade. Unexcused absence (3) = 5-point subtraction from final grade. (For example, if you have an 89 final average with (3) unexcused absences your final grade will be 84). Four (4) or more unexcused absences will lead to academic and residential consequences beyond the scope of this class determined by the Office of Academic Affairs (i.e., residential groundings, parent/principal conference, and/or detention).

**Any minor assignment/test/project/presentation missed due to an unexcused absence will be handled according to the late work policy of this class. You will be given an opportunity to retake any missed assignment/test/project/presentation worth more than 20% of the final grade but will be docked a full letter grade as a result.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY STATEMENT

You are responsible for the integrity of your work and you are required to produce work that is academically honest. This means that all of your work for this course must be your own and must be created specifically for this course. Failing to maintain the integrity of your work will have serious consequences. Submitting someone else's paper, including papers you obtain online, as your own writing is fraud. Attempting to take credit for someone else's words or ideas without properly citing them is plagiarism. Direct and indirect plagiarism, both of which we will discuss in class, are unacceptable and have serious academic consequences. If you are even remotely uncertain about whether or not any part of your work is academically honest, contact me and we can sort it out. Please refer to the student handbook for additional information, including information that is new this year.

LITERATURE NOTE

Important literature is often about the deepest and most difficult struggles of humans to live authentically in a complex world. Through the thoughts and experiences of literary characters, we can examine and evaluate our personal responses to life's mysteries, complexities, disappointments, and joys. In addition, we begin to understand how a writer, in his or her own struggle to experience creatively, has responded to the social, political, and artistic environment of his/her times. The English Department at the Academy selects reading material that reflects these human struggles, has endured the test of time, and has earned a respected place in the universe of letters. The instructors will often include recently published poems, stories, and articles that reflect the diversity of contemporary cultures and experiences.

If, because of the powerful nature of the reading experience, you are unable to read and study a specific text with reasonable analytic objectivity, please confer with your instructor. Alternative texts are available.

DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION POLICY

Ball State University aspires to be a university that attracts and retains a diverse faculty, staff, and student body. We are committed to ensuring that all members of the community are welcome, through valuing the various experiences and worldviews represented at Ball State and among those we serve. We promote a culture of respect and civil discourse as expressed in our Beneficence Pledge and through university resources found at <http://cms.bsu.edu/campuslife/multiculturalcenter>. As such, it is important to ensure that your comments and behavior in class is respectful and inclusive. Discriminatory comments or behavior will not be tolerated and may result in disciplinary action, in accordance with Indiana Academy and Ball State University policy.

INDIANA ACADEMY MASK POLICY

The Indiana Academy will follow Ball State University's mask policy (see Section IV). Based on current CDC guidance recommending the wearing of face masks for all people—regardless of vaccination status—in public indoor settings in communities where the rate of coronavirus transmission is high or substantial, all employees, students, and campus visitors are required to wear a mask while inside any University building. This requirement is effective on August 9, 2021. Fully vaccinated people are not required to wear masks outdoors.

Individuals who are not fully vaccinated for COVID-19 are required to wear face masks while inside campus buildings and outside when physical distancing cannot be maintained.

If a student declines to wear a face mask as required, the student will be referred to the Director of Academic Affairs or the Director of Residential Affairs. If the situation occurs in a classroom or other academic setting, it is considered a classroom management issue, and the teacher will remind the student of the requirement and give the student a chance to comply with it prior to referring the matter to the Director of Academic Affairs or the Director of Residential Affairs. Wearing masks is crucial to preventing the spread of COVID-19 to others.